
Title: Simple Potions, Vol 1

Author: Ciara De'Vir

Deadly wine
2 sulferous ash, dried and crystalized 5 teaspoon of grave dust 5 ginsing sprigs 3 teaspoons ice snake's venom 4 teaspoons of ground white wyrm 1 bottle Yew wine

Ground the sulferous ash into a powder and set it aside carefully

Crush the ginsing until it is a pure liquid. Strain the fibers out, leaving only the liquid. Slowly stir in the grave dust one teaspoon at a time, careful that it dissolves before adding another teaspoon.

Burn the ground scale into a bowl. Give it one half hour to retrieve it's properties.

Mix the sulferous ash powder with the now liquefied scale, extremely slow so the powder doesn't collide until the powder dissolves.

Pour the sulferous ash mixture first into the wine, and swirl it slowly

Pour next the ginsing but do not swirl. Allow it to sit for one week.

This potion is good for assassinations. The victim innocently drinks the wine, unaware of the poison. The body becomes sick, and a week later, the gravedust and sulfurous meet, and the body spontaneously combusts.

Removing Scars

1 lemon

1 leaf from a snake plant

1 ginseng

Rub lemon on the scar, and go outside for one half hour.

That night, crush the ginseng and remove the fibers, setting them aside, and leaving the juice.

Cut the snake plant long ways, making short slits crossway, until you can open the leaf flat.

Pour the ginseng topically on the scar, rubbing it into the surface skin.

Take the leaf, and using a small tinkers knife, scrape the ooze out, and put it on the scar.

Take the ginseng fibers and place it over the ooze carefully. Wrap a binding around it.

Remove the next morning.
Repeat both process until the scar is barely visible. Approximately two weeks.

Numbing agent

Must be done where there is snow. Wear gloves.

1 vial of Pre-strained ginsing liquid
1 vial of Artic Ogre Lord's blood
1 pure White cactus thorn

Dig a hole in the snow.
Place the bottle in the hole, and pack the snow around it.

Fill the bottle 3/4 the way with snow.

Pour the ginsing and artic ogre lord's blood over the snow.

Stir it with the thorn.
Fill the rest of the way with snow, and cork the bottle.

Shake the bottle vigourously, until the insides freeze the bottle completely. Good for one use. Please note that opening the bottle releases the freezing properties in the blood, and will after 12 hours, be rendered useless.

Anti-Lust Potion

1 pig iron
1 minoc Blue fish
Sea water

Put the sea water into the bottle half way.
Shave the pig iron into the water, and stir.

Cut open the fish, and scrape the insides, getting one vial full.
Pour it into a seperate bottle and pour in sea water, shaking vigerously.
Pour the mixture into a pot, and heat, until the fat is liquified into the water.

Pour the pig iron mixture into the pot, and put it to simmer, until the mixture is clear.

Put a fresh bottle into a pan of water, and heat it. Once heated to, (use gloves) take out and pour the mixture into the bottle.

Let cool to room temperature.

Deep Sleep

1 petal from an

Orfleur

1 sprig of nightshade

1 shaved pig iron

1 hair of a dryad.

Dry the petal and nightshade out and set aside.

Put the pig iron and the hair in a pot, heating it until they boil.

pour in the orfleur and nightshade in, (wear a mask due to the fumes) and keep boiling until the mixture is orange.

Pour it out on a small marble slab and let the sun dry it hard.
(approximately one hour)

Once hard, put in a cloth bag and take a large warhammer and pound it until it's a fine powder.

Aphrodisiac

1 mandrake root

1 vial Daemon's blood

1 vial of rabbit semen

1 oyster

Chop the mangrake into tiny pieces and set aside. Mix the deamon's blood and rabbit's semen in a mortar, stirring once.

Pour the pieces of mandrake into the mixture. Crush the mandrake with a pestle. Open the shell of the oyster, and pour it into the pestal, crushing it into the mix.

Strain the mixture into a bottle.

Earth on Fire
(will make ten bottles) 10 sulferous ash 12 vials of deamon's blood
The blood drained from a firestead The shell of a firebeetle 1 bottle liquor
Get a cauldron and boil water. Put the sulferous ash in and bring to a boil.

Drain the water out into a large, fireproof barrel or bowl.
Start stirring, slowly adding in the deamon's blood.

Pour the fire steed blood into Barrel, still stirring slowly. The mixture should be pure blood red. Crush the firebeetle's shell into a fine powder. Pour it into the mix, slowly mixing. Seal the barrel and put it in a kiln. Allow to heat for three days.

When done, the barrel should be lined with a light powdery substance.
Pour the liquor into the barrel. Scrape the powder off the sides, slowly stirring it in until all the powder has been absorbed.

Once it has been absorbed. (use more liquor if needed, but be careful, so as to not overly saturate the mix) put it in potion bottles.

This potion is useful for allowing the ground to become hot as fire, allowing the enemies to burn where they stand.

(shoes to be figured out later)

Sustained fire

3 sulphurous ash.

2 drops of killer frog's
blood

Crush the sulphurous ash with a mortar and pestal into a simple explosion potion. Pour the two drops of killer frog's
blood.

When the bottle breaks, a small fire will burn for up to four hours. may vary due to weather